

TOYNBEE HALL,
28 COMMERCIAL STREET,
LONDON, E.1

Learned Sir,

Nothing would much more please me than to come straight the next week-end. At present I am bound down by running a L.O.N. show on Sunday afternoons here, a copy of whose programme is enclosed. But this does not last for ever. Anyway the Centenary must be done, even in rags & poverty.
There is almost too much to discuss just now but I am recording the fortnightly meetings of a currency group which meet here. The company includes Haunter & Lloyd, Dalton, Sperry-Rice, Cannon, Keynes are leading discussions. As they all disagree on simple things, it is quite illuminating work to follow their minds. However perhaps a hour or two's tuition under you on the FUNDAMENTALS might shed the first glimmering on my at present distraught mind.

May I therefore send a line, as soon as it is possible to get away from here

Can you recommend a few

Books for beginners?

I know Hauley
those of Dalton (Lloyd).

These professors are too simple in their sciences.

Has a business man some suggestions?
